Sample Document for Parser Tests

The zebrafish is a small freshwater fish widely used in biology laboratories. Its embryos are transparent, which lets researchers watch organs develop in real time.

Information retrieval systems rank documents by how well they match a query. Classic methods such as BM25 score each document using term frequency and document length.

Accented letters should survive extraction: café, naïve, résumé.

Pipeline stages:

- Parsing
- Chunking
- Indexing